Next-Gen Age Verification for Vending Machines

Integration Options

HARDWARE

Integration via a compact hardware module installed inside the vending machine.

The module communicates with the IXATRIA system and forwards the result of the age verification directly to the machine's control unit.

Benefits:

- Easy retrofitting of existing machines
- No modifications to existing software required
- High compatibility with common vending machines

API

Integration via a standardized interface (API), which is embedded directly into the vending machine software.

All relevant data is exchanged in real time between the IXATRIA system and the existing software.

Benefits:

- Scalable adaptation to existing systems
- Direct integration into individual workflows
- Ideal for manufacturers and operators with their own software infrastructure

Which integration option is best for your machines depends on your individual requirements.
